

05.11.: Scholarship programmes of the German Academic Exchange Service

Dear researchers,
dear students,

Would you like to study, research or improve your language skills with a scholarship in Germany?

I cordially invite you to an information event on the funding opportunities by the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) on Monday the 05th of November 2018 at 5 pm in room 0.11 of the Faculty of Philology, ul. Pomorska 171/173.

A short introduction about the main programmes offered by the DAAD will be given in English (or German on request), afterwards we will have time for your individual questions.

With its scholarships, the DAAD aims to fund and support foreign students, graduates, doctoral candidates and young and early-stage researchers whose previous research and academic achievements place them at least in the top third of their year group and who can additionally be expected in the future to become key players and top performers in their career fields combined with an awareness for the social responsibility which this involves.

Funding is available for stays at state (public) or state-approved universities and at non-university research institutes in Germany.

I'm looking forward to meeting you at November, 5th. Further information about the DAAD scholarship programme can be found on the Polish homepage of the DAAD: www.daad.pl

With kind regards,

Torsten Erdbrügger
